Providing the future

Deutsche Messe

We are the leading international environmental technology fair in Latin America, bringing together the most innovative technologies, solutions, products, and services across the five main sectors.

Our event aims to promote sustainability across various industries by bringing together top exhibitors, business leaders, and strategic partners who offer these solutions to our professional buyers and visitors.

Additionally, ECOMONDO MEXICO has become an excellent forum for sharing knowledge on this ecological trend through our academic conferences and Field Trips, providing a great space for networking.
